TWTC Tandem Hospitality Homes

Are you willing to become a TWTC Hospitality Home? A Hospitality Home provides touring cyclists a place to stay for a night or two. It need not be fancy ~ a spare bedroom, tent site, camper facility, etc. will do. The cyclist will need shower facilities and an opportunity to launder their clothes and a meal. The touring cyclist should call you well in advance and make arrangements directly through you with no last minutes surprises.

What a great way to meet other exciting people in the world of cycling. Learn about how they live their life on the road while cycling, the joy they encounter each day in their travels, the hazard and drawbacks in touring, the do's and don'ts. Learn more about their life style on the road. It could be something you would like to know more about when your day of touring comes into play. Why not learn first hand from a touring person by welcoming them into your home as they pass through.

If you would like to be considered a hospitality home the information collected from participants will be compiled and put on the TailWind web site (without your home phone number or address.) Step 1 traveler will email you directly. Step 2 if you get a traveler coming through to stay with you, at that time you would give them your home address as well as your phone number. Home address and home phone numbers will not be made public on our web site. . Information that will be posted to the web will include: State, Town, Names, email and type of accommodations you can provide a traveler.
